NATURAL BURIAL CONSIDERATIONS

There is no public health reason for cemeteries to prohibit the use of biodegradable coffins and urns - i.e., products made of wood, paper, cloth or woven wicker. While many cemeteries still require those items, be put in concrete vaults in the ground, there are many cemeteries that do not. Pioneer, churchyard and historic cemeteries; garden arboretum cemeteries; publicly owned cemeteries - all have natural burials on their grounds if they're older than 1950, and many are now considering removing the vault requirement if the burial includes some additional maintenance money to cover the small but present cost of filling a collapsed gave and/or caring for a special tree over its lifetime.

My Latest Version Date _____ (keep a master copy so you can make changes over time!)

One of the best ways to locate your future cemetery is to research cemeteries in the area you'd like to be buried. After identifying several that appeal to you, discuss what you want and negotiate. Most cemeteries have declining revenues and many are eager to cater to customers that aren't adding toxic or non-degrading materials to their landscapes. If the cemeteries are unfamiliar with the practice, refer them to the "Be a Tree" and Natural Burial Company webpages, where they can learn about courses that instruct them in the practice of sustainable cemetery management.

Answering the following questions will help others carry out your wishes - check all that apply:

_____ I would like a tree or bush or flowers planted on my grave. Some of my favorite species include:

_____ I'll accept an appropriately-sized planting from the cemetery's 'native species' list.

_____ I would like our family to consider buying a block of plots, with a single "Family Tree" at its center.

_____ I like the idea of a grave on the edge of a cemetery section and near a special "wildlife habitat" planting like a hedgerow or forested area that is undisturbed and is supported by funds from my burial.

_____ I like the idea of a wildflower meadow on top of my grave.

_____ I DO NOT PREFER to have my grave mowed weekly during the growing season.

_____ A "natural look" is more beautiful to me than a "manicured" one and shows more respect for nature.

_____ I accept that "my" plantings won't live forever (either), and understand that maintenance periods may be limited by the fees we agree to pay.

_____ I'm open to the idea of "grave reuse" (see Be a Tree) if it becomes acceptable in the cemetery, and would consider letting future generations of my family use my grave space in the future (example: 100 years)

_____ I ACCEPT _____ OR I DO NOT ACCEPT _____ pets being buried in the cemetery that I'm buried in.

_____ If my grave is visited, please DO NOT BRING any plastic flowers or

_____ I'd like a natural graveside service, buried with straw, flowers, and materials that aid decomposition.

_____ If the cemetery does not require a marker, I do NOT want one.

_____ A flat indigenous stone marker is fine* (if you like the idea of a monument, here's your chance to write your favored inscription or any other guidance on the back of this sheet.)

I'm interested in the following cemeteries (list any that you like; include notes, brochures, and price lists)

_____ I Want CREMATION

_____ Find a busy "thermally efficient" crematory that filters emissions (you can do that yourself and list it below)

_____ I want OR _____ I have purchased cremation services from _____ _____ (include contract)

Phone number & location of facility _____

NOTE: if you're a member of a cremation society (like Neptune) read your contract carefully and make sure you understand any recent changes the society may have made to your contract. Include any payment receipts or contract copies with this sheet

Version Date _____ (keep a master copy so you can make changes over time!)

IMPORTANT NOTE: Has the Authorization to Cremate been signed? Check your state law & get a copy of the blank form. Start getting signatures – many States require your body be stored til all required family signatures are in.

DISPOSITION OF CREMATED REMAINS – Cremated remains are considered personal property and pose no public health threat. Some states have made rules about how cremated remains must be handled, but these rules may be unconstitutional, so if you have any questions about rules that you're told, research may prove your rights trump the naysayers. As long as the bones have been properly crushed (guaranteeing legal disposition took place) there is a lot of latitude for a creative disposition. Your preferences are usually important to your loved ones, so please list them below.

I WANT MY CREMATED REMAINS TO BE (check all that apply, since cremated remains can be split up!):

1) _____ part of the Living Cemetery's Memorial Habitat program (emerging program; see "Be a Tree")

I prefer supporting _____ Memorial Habitat Hedgerow research or _____ Cemetery Wildflower Meadow research or _____ Memorial Habitat Underwater research

2) _____ scattered _____ buried _____ inurned in a columbarium niche (describe preferred urn on back) at: _____

3) given to _____ for further disposition at a later date (leave detailed instructions as to who and how or there could be mayhem!)

4) _____ other _____

5) _____ see my list on the back for urns, diamonds, fireworks, space shots and the rest!

6) The following people may have some of my cremated remains if they so choose:

_____ "Donate my body to Science" – Please note: this is not always a simple matter as there are lots of businesses that have a financial interest in your body; please do your research, make choices in writing, and make them all in advance. Information is available VIA links and articles on the Be a Tree and Natural Burial Company websites; conditions for this option are changing all the time!

OBITUARY & SYMPATHY GIFTS

_____ I want an obituary to be published (pre-writing out your basic details and storing here will be appreciated by all)

_____ I DO NOT want an obituary beyond what's legally required

It is my wish that monetary expressions of sympathy be:

_____ given to my family in care of the funeral home for use toward my funeral expenses _____ directed to _____ charity or charities; or as so desired by my family

My Latest Version Date _____ (keep a master copy so you can make changes over time!)
